

country director, australia

World Society for the Protection of Animals

- Create a world where animal welfare matters and animal cruelty ends
- Advocate for animals via this highly regarded International NGO
- Build upon a successful foundation of successful fundraising and campaigning

The World Society for the Protection of Animals (WSPA) is the world's largest network for animal welfare, with over 1000 member societies supporting communities in more than 153 countries. For 25 years, WSPA has promoted the concept of animal welfare in regions of the world where there are few, if any, measures to protect animals. WSPA campaigns to convince governments and key decision makers to change practices and introduce new laws to protect or improve the welfare of animals.

Reporting to the Regional Director of Asia Pacific, you will lead and direct WSPA's Australian office to achieve local, regional and worldwide goals. You will nurture a high-quality and multi disciplinary team to ensure that the business plan, fundraising objectives and campaigns are further developed, implemented and monitored. Working closely with your team you will liaise with government authorities, individual, institutional and corporate donors, stakeholder organisations and media as well as managing finances, legals, administration and communications.

You have extensive experience in senior management, not necessarily in the not for profit sector or the animal welfare community, but you must possess a strong understanding of fundraising, operations and communications. You are a strategic thinker and persuasive communicator with the drive and initiative to lead an already successful team. Importantly, you have an eye for detail, with the ability to further develop internal systems and processes.

If you're an exceptional leader, looking to make a significant impact on animal welfare in Australia, please contact Richard Green or Annie Barker on 02 8243 0570 or email your resume to cv@ngorecruitment.com quoting reference #30753.

