

chief Australian Communications Consumer Action Network executive officer

- High profile peak body
- Opportunity for a leader with energy and initiative
- Attractive salary package

ACCAN, the Australian Communications Consumer Action Network, is the peak organisation for consumer communications issues. It provides a strong, coordinated voice for consumers, in all their diversity, locations, and accessibility requirements.

You will lead ACCAN in identifying unfair practices, initiating campaigns in the public interest and advocating on consumers' behalf. You will maintain a high media profile and use your knowledge of consumer rights, trade practice fairness and communications regulation to deliver outcomes.

You are a pro-active and energetic executive with experience in developing targeted research programs, exceptional financial management skills and the ability to lead a talented, dynamic team. You are committed to consumer representation and are a strategic thinker with professional maturity and the highest possible ethical standards.
