Crohn's & Colitis Australia is a non-profit national organisation serving to benefit people living with Crohn's disease and ulcerative colitis. The organisation is positioning itself to even better support people living with inflammatory bowel disease (IBD) including the establishment of a sustainable research funding program to find a cure for IBD.

You will further develop and implement a comprehensive fundraising program that incorporates direct debit, annual giving, major gifts, bequests and special events. You will also generate sponsorship support from the corporate sector and assist members and community groups to raise support for the organisation's education and research work.

You have previously developed and managed integrated fundraising strategies resulting in successful donor acquisition and retention, and secured significant sponsorship support. Your ability to influence and gain support from stakeholders including individual donors, members and corporates will be central to your success. You have a 'can do' attitude and are able to meet and exceed income targets using limited resources.

If you can meet the challenge of raising substantial financial support to find a cure for IBD, contact Ant Clark on 03 9225 5100 or forward your resume to cv@ngorecruitment.com quoting job #29478
