

development specialist

- Prestigious medical research institute
- Attractive employee benefits – flexible hours
- Multi-million dollar capital campaign involvement

The Garvan Institute is one of Australia's leading medical research institutions with approximately 500 scientists, students and support staff working in research programs in Cancer, Diabetes & Obesity, Immunology & Inflammation, Osteoporosis, and Neuroscience.

The Garvan Research Foundation is responsible for creating a community of support for the Institute's research and for raising philanthropic funds.

This newly created role will be responsible for securing philanthropic gifts from individuals or trusts; management of the 'workplace giving' fundraising program; and provision of donor research and writing capabilities. You will also work within a team of senior fundraisers to generate and maintain a pipeline of gifts at a range of levels.

You will have a demonstrated track record of successful relationship fundraising, outstanding written communication skills, and a strong understanding of donor stewardship and care. Above all, you will have the ability to embody a prestige scientific brand and to represent the work of the Garvan Institute to people of influence.

If you would like to advance your fundraising career in a sophisticated and supportive environment, please contact Olivia Ryan on 02 8243 0570 or forward your resume to cv@ngorecruitment.com quoting ref # 29710.

