

community relations & development director

- Drive community engagement to end homelessness
- Attractive remuneration package

Each year Hanover provides essential welfare services to 30,000 Victorians experiencing homelessness or housing crisis.

Hanover also conducts research to investigate the causes and consequences of homelessness, conducts employment services and provides high level advocacy and policy advice to governments, community agencies and the general public.

This newly created role, Director Stakeholder Relations & Development will drive key elements of the five year strategic plan. The role will grow both private and corporate income, build organisational profile and advocacy effectiveness via the implementation of fundraising, public relations, media, branding and communication strategies.

You have an impressive track record in managing a similarly complex marketing and fundraising operation. You have a deep understanding and appreciation of best practice communications, direct marketing, donor management and branding with highly developed relationship and event management skills.

If applying your extensive community engagement and management experience to encourage change in Australian society is a career goal then please phone Richard Green on 03 9225 5439 or forward your CV to cv@ngorecruitment.com quoting job 29867.

Recruitment

A division of Bradman Recruitment