

queensland campaign manager

- Australia's Leading Nature Conservation Organisation
- Strategic Leadership Role – FNQ WildCountry Campaign
- Brisbane Based

Since the world renowned Franklin River campaign The Wilderness Society has become Australia's most successful nature conservation organisation. Its campaigns have helped protect and restore precious areas such as Kakadu, Daintree, Shelburne Bay and the forests of south eastern Australia. More recently, campaigns have been undertaken for new laws to control land clearing and to protect wild rivers within Qld.

This State Campaign Manager position will lead and coordinate the activities of The Wilderness Society Queensland, playing the central role in campaigns and strategies to protect Queensland's Wild Places and with particular focus on the leadership of the Far North Qld WildCountry Campaign.

You will have a track record in successfully directing and undertaking a range of campaign, staff management and organisational development functions as well as a commitment to the protection of the natural environment. Other requirements include a solid understanding of the Queensland and national political environment and electoral politics and well developed networking, advocacy and negotiation skills.

So, if you are passionate about protecting Queensland's Wild Places and have the skills to combine strategic planning and coordination of campaigns with day to day staff and organisational management, please contact Louise Furlong or Richard Green on 07 3303 0388 or send your resume to ngo_3@ngorecruitment.com
